THE ATTACK ON MR. SEARLES

"NO INTENT TO KILL" SAYS THE PRISONER.

AT WAS HIS PURPOSE TO ROB THE HOUSE-THE CASE IN COURT.

The man who gave the name of George Carpenter after he was arrested for attempted burgiary and as sault in the first degree at the fine house of John E. Searles, jr., No. 810 St. Mark's-ave., Brooklyn, on Tuesday night, as told in detail in The Tribune vester day, was arraighed in the Gates Avenue Police Court yesterday. He admitted that the name he gave was not his real one, but said "my people are respectable and I do not wish to bring them into the affair." He had a full set of burglar's tools in his possession. chiding a "fimmy" statesh inches long, which had been used before. He also had several false mustaches and a beard in his pockets, and was armed with a set of brass knuckles, besides his revolver. He said his business was that of a stone-cutter and that he was thirty years old. When arranged he waived formal examination and was held for the action of the Grand

The prisoner made this statement regarding the affair: "I entered Mr. Searles's house with the puremployment for some time and my 'bal' and I wanted So we started out to 'crack a crib.' The house in St. Mark's ave. attracted our attention as we saw the door open and no one in sight. The hall was as dark as pitch and we were groping our way to the stairs when the old man appeared. He wanted to know our business and my 'pal' said: 'Are you the proprietor of the house?" He said he was and I with his money, and grabbed at his water chain. He put up his fist and I fired my 'gun' over his head to intimidate him. I had no intention midate him. I had no intention of shoeting him and only wanted to frighten him so as to have an opportunity to get away. I would have succeeded if the two other mea had not rushed out. I fired the second shot to frighten the three, but hit myself. I don't think it right to accuse me of trying to kill Mr. Searles as I could easily have done it if I had wanted to, as he steed only three feet from me when I fired. The charge ought to be an attempt at burglary at the point of a pictol. My 'pal' became excited and ran away when he saw we were two against three, but he

Mr. searles was accompanied to the courtroom the Rev. Dr. James M. Chadwick and W. W. Bowdish. The latter talked with the prisoner and said he was a bright man, but devoid of religious belief and an avowed atheist. Mr. Searles said that he was more while engaged in it. He counted himself fortunate in escaping so easily, and in securing his assatlant. The police are searching for the companion of the prisoner and expect to secure Mm. They believe the prisoner to be an ex-convict. He was asked at the fall yestemlay afternoon if it was true that he was in Sing Sing Prison for eight years and got out two years ago. He replied: "It is a — He. It wasn't two years ago." He then recollected himself and denied that he had ever been in prison. He showed great familiarity with the penalty likely to be imposed upon him, and gave the impression of being a desperate criminal, familiar with criminal ways,

Mr. Searles said to a Tribune reporter yesterday: the doors all open while the shower was coming up, when, between the peals of thunder, I heard footsteps In the hallway. The men evidently made no at-tempt to keep quiet, and when I went out to meet them it was so dark that I stumbled over a rug and nearly fell against them. When they made their demand it struck me as ridiculous, and as one of the men raised his revolver I knew I must get it from Whether he fired to kill me or miss me and only frighten me, so he could get away, I do not know. As I heard the shot I closed in on him and the struggle was a desperate one. My sou-in-law, Mr. Tuttle, and Mr. Sands came to my aid in the nick of time and we speedily overpowered him, and his companion fled. The man we captured was cool and companion fied. The man we experienced burglar or else he was drievn by dire necessity to attempt so desperate a deed. My wife and daughter behaved with admirable coolness, and white we men were struggling with the burglar they telephoned to the police station for aid. I am sarry for the notories we gained in this affair, but am glad the outcome was no worse."

HIS BAD CHARACTER DIDN'T SAVE HIM.

INTERESTING FRANKNESS OF A CONFIRMED CRIMINAL ON THE WITNESS STAND.

Charles W. Annck thought he would make a master stroke in Part III of General sessions vesterday by being entirely frank. He misjudged the effect of his candor on the jury, however, for he and his partner, Charles Henderson, were convicted in spite of a first rate alibi. On May 10, Charles Geidner, of Venezuch. met a man in Central Park and exchanged confidences told Geldner that they were going to Venezuela on the steamer that he was to take and borrowed the 2000 from him to pay the freight on some machinery. The strangers were "bunco" men and Geidner never Detectives Rean and Mulvey were but on the case and they suspected Afflick and Henderson, who are ex-convicts, of being the guilty men. The two were arrested and Geldner identified them positively. In General Sessions, the defendants swore they were in a barroom in Frankfort-st, at the time that Geldner s with the confidence men. The proprietor of the barroom and a reputable insurance man corroborated them positively. Ambrose H, Purdy, their counsel, told Afflick to be entirely frank when he took the witness stand.

"What is your business?" asked Mr. Purdy.

"I steal for a living." *Have you ever been in prison?"

TO DISMISS THE INDICTMENTS AGAINST IVES. John J. Delaney appeared in Part III of General Sessions before Judge Cowing yesterday, and moved that the indictments against Henry S. Ives and George Stayner be dismissed. The two were indicted on March 18, 1890, on the charge of grand la ceny and over-issuing securities of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railway Company. They were tried, but the jury disagreed. District-Attorney De Lancey Nicoli said yesterday that he would not object to the dis-missal of the indictments.

ACQUITTED AFTER PLEADING GUILTY.

Emil Beck, a pupil in General O. O. Howard's Bible-class in Chrystie-st., was acquitted of the charge of larceny in General Sessions yesterday, although he had pleaded guilty in the Jefferson Market Police Court. By pronouncing him innocent, the jury virtually declared its belief in his charge against the younger brother of his employer. Beck, who is twenty-two years old and lives at No. 187 Hester-st., worked for the J. W. Carroll Company, lithographers at No. 67 Spring-st. J. W. Carroll, the manager of the corporation, testified yesterday that brass embossing dies worth $20,000 had been stolen from the company. Beck was arrested about three weeks ago and admitted that he had stolen some of the brass. At least, Carroll and two detectives say he made the confession to them, and he signed a statement in the police court in which he pleaded guilty.

EXCOMMUNICATING HIS CONGREGATION. Cleveland, Ohio, June 15.-There was a highly dramatic score at St. Stanislaus's Church last night, when Bishop Herstman denied the rites of the sacrament to nearly the entire congregation. There has been serious trouble in the church for two weeks culminating with a riot Saturday and numerous fights Sunday and Monday. The Pishop has been out of the city. The church last night was jammed with people. After stating to the members that no power on earth could remove Father Rozinski, the paster who is objectionable to a facilon, the hishop, extending his hand, over the heads of the congregation, ordered the congregation to its knees. Then, in a solem voice, he said: "I hereby deny the right of sacrament to all members of this congregation who have par ticipated in these ungodly actions until they shall make public confession of their repentence at regular services before this congregation. This temporarily excommunicates at least solo members.

He made a fortune and retired from business thirty five years ago. He made his home in the Ansor House, then at spring and Crosby sts. This hotel was then owned by Anson House. The proprietor's fam-ily included a young son and a niece. The niece is now Mrs. Schell, and it is she who is the one favored most in Mr. Clarke's will, as his friendship for her continued till his death. The boy was adopted by Mr Clarke and became as constant companion. They were never separated till last August, when the boy died. Until after his death it had been supposed that Mr. Clarke had no relatives, and that he was the last of his family. He was singularly reticent on money matters and spoke little about his personal affairs. He died in the summer home of A. M. Schell, whose New-York address is No. 305 West Twenty-third-st.

Mrs. Schell is the sister of George H. Burford, the president of the United States Life Insurance Company he brought Mr. Clarke's body to the St. Nicholas Hotel, where he had lived, and just before the funeral, on sunday, an elderly man, with two sons and daughters, came to the hotel and introduced himself as George R. Clarke, first cousin of the dead man. lives at No. 165 Tompkins ave., Brooklyn. One son is employed by Raynor & Martin, of Nos. 115 and 117 William st., and another is a salesman for Smith, Gray & Co., of Brooklyn. It is said that, though Mr. Clarke had asserted that he had no relatives, he must have known the present claimants to his wealth, for once, when he was III in the St. Nicholas Hotel last May, two young men, who were said to be George B. Clarke's wo sons, called and sent up their cards. But Mr. (Wo sons, caned and sent up their cards. But Mr. Clarke refused to see them, saying they were after his money. At any rate, they say they are prepared to prove that they are his relatives, though they have refused to say whether they will contest the will or not. The dead man's estate is said to be a large one.

SAYS SHE WAS DRUNK WHEN MARRIED. While the suit of Mrs. Carrie Marks to have her marriage to Benjamin Marks annulled on the ground that she was intoxicated at the time the ceremony was performed, was being tried before Judge Giegerich, in the Court of Common Pleas yesterday, Judge Goldfogle and August P. Wagener got into a dispute and began to call each other names. The judge had to tell the lawyers that if they did not cease that kind of talk he would fine them for contempt of court. Mrs. Marks alleges that her husband, who is a widower with ten children, gave her two or three glasses of wine and then took her to the City Hall where they were married by Judge McCarthy. She is a young woman and she pover went to live with Marks. Soon after the marriage she brought the present suit. Marks denies that he induced her to marry him and declares that she threatened to kill herself unless he married her. The case will be continued to-day when Judge Mc-Carthy will probably be called to testify as to the con-dition of the young woman when the ceremony was performed.

SHE IS THE WIDOW AND HAS HER RIGHTS. P. V. Ransom, as referce, has decided in favor of Mrs. Mary Coleman in the controversy over who should have letters testamentary on the estate of James Dillon. Mrs. Coleman is a daughter of Dillon and she secured the letters on her father's estate. Then the widow of Dillon appeared and wanted the letters revoked to the daughter and issued to her. She de revoked to the daughter and issued to her. See de-clared that she had had five children by Dillon. The referee says that Mrs. Dillon is the widow of Dillon, although she secured a divorce from her former hus-band after she began to five with Dillon. The referee ays, however, that the relations of the parties after that showed that they formed a marriage contract. The widow is illiterate, the referee says, and for this reason he decides that the daughter may retain the letters testamentary.

JESSE HANSON, ETTA K. AND HENRY H. THE

Boston, June 15 (Special).-There was some queer work at Mystic Park this afternoon the true inward-ness of which was not disclosed, chiefly owing to the lack of prompiness on the part of the judges. First came the 2:22 trot, postponed from yesterday. Jesse Hanson got the first two heats. The third heat was given to Blue Bells, with a new record of 2:201-4.
The fourth heat was close, but Blue Bells got it by a nose and was then a 4 to 1 favorite. She made two bad breaks in the fifth heat, and Jesse Hanson landed the money after all. It is said that Turner could have won, but the judges did not interfere. The second race was a gift to Etta K., though Dudley Olcott carried her along fast enough in the second heat to reduce her record nearly two seconds. The 2:30 pace was a wretched exhibition, Henry H., the favorite, finally winning in ridiculously slow time. When he was allowed to get the third heat in 2:30, there was a protest that woke the judges up to making a change of drivers behind G. R. S. The classes tomorrow are the 2:20 and 2:34 trotting, and 2:16

THE INQUEST ON THE ANDERSON MURDER. Perth Amboy, N. J., June 15 .- The coroner's inquiry into the death of Herter Mary Anderson, the young girl murdered in the suburbs of this place in broad daylight on the afternoon of June 5, was continued in the Town Hall to-day. Not a scintilla of evidence implicating Schlipf with the crime was brought out, and chilpf's friends, as well as the general public, are now more firmly convinced than ever that he knows nothing about the crime. But few witnesses were examined. They were all called by the prosecution, and their evidence was of an immaterial nature and merely tending to show the discovery of the body of the murdered gift. The prisoner Schlipf was not brought up from the New-Brunswick jail to the inquest, but represented by several lawyers.

Maximillan Brobst, the signalman employed in the tower on the Central Ratiroad about a quarter of a mile from the scene of the murder, swore to having seen the murdered girl pass the tower between 2 and 3 o'clock. He saw her returning from Perth Amboy at 5:08 the same afternoon. This witness also testified that & strange man passed the tower as Mary Anderson did the last time. The most important witnesses present at the inquiry to-day were two little boys, John Bisel, aged twelve years, and Clements Abner, aged nine years. They were not placed on the stand. These boys, in company with another little urchin, were picking wild strawberries along the tracks of the Central Ballroad on the afternoon of the murder. As they reached the embankment two men rushed out of the patch of bushes in which the body was afterward found and chased the boys away. The men then turned back in the direction of the wood. This was about five minutes before Mary Anderson must have reached the spot where she was killed. The boys give a good description of the two men.

NO CREDHNITALS FOR ERASTUS WIMAN.

Toronto, June 15 (Special).- The council of the of Erastus Wiman that he might fill a vacancy in their delegation to the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire, assembling in London on June 28. The ground of refusal is in no respect pledge himself to avoid discussing preferential trade between Great Britain and her colonies, to the ex-clusion of all other countries, which Mr. Wiman said might possibly be the most disastrous thing that could happen to Canada. The board, however, having adopted this policy, would not appoint a delegate who would presume to discuss it, hence Mr. Wiman has no credentials from his native city.

DID THIS JEWELLER ATTEMPT SUICIDE?

The police of the East Eighty-eighth-st, station are uncertain whether Asolph Hess, a jeweiler, of No. 12 Marken Lane, who lives at No. 245 East Eighty-sixth-st, attempted to commit suicide by taking polson or not. He did not go to dinner at 0:30 p. m. on Tuesday, and going to his room.
Mrs. Eckstein, his landhady, found him lying on the bed unconscious and breathing heavily. Dr. Charles Hoffman, of
No. 243 East Eighty-sixth-st, responded to the call of Mrs. Eckstein, and found Mr. Hess suffering from option potsoning. At the first glange he said there was little hope for the man, but after three hours' work he conclude that Mr. Hess must die, and sent for the police. Hess was taken to the Presbyterian Hospital. The doctors at the The police of the East Eighty-eighth-st, station are un taken to the Prosbyterian Hospital. The doctors at the hospital worked over him till their efforts were rewarded by his regaining consciousness. He will soon be discharged. Heas refuses to make any statements about his potsoning, and his friends are equally reticent. On search Ing his room the police found an empty saudanum bottle.

They will investigate fully and Mr. Hess will be arraigned for attempting suicide if present suspicious are correct.
